Leslie Charteris : The Saint and the Templar Treasure (The Saint Series) before purchasing it in order to gage whether or not it would be worth my time, and all praised The Saint and the Templar Treasure (The Saint Series):

0 of 0 people found the following review helpful. What a Fabulous Adventure!By Carol KiekowThis book is another entertaining adventure of The Saint. I was on the edge of my seat throughout. I heartily recommend it!0 of 1 people found the following review helpful. Good "Saint" storyBy Carolyn GravesGood "Saint" story. Location as much a character as the people. Kept my interest and kept me guessing throughout.4 of 13 people found the following review helpful. Super ReaderBy averageSimon Templar is in France, and has an incident on the road with a young woman. He ends up at a small local vineyard that is in financial trouble. The girl, Mimette requests his help. There is a family struggle over the place, and an uncle trying to find an old obscure Templar treasure on the property. Violence ensues, and the treasure is not what anyone thinks.

Simon Templar is taking a leisurely drive though the French countryside when he picks up a couple of hitchhikers who are going to work at Chateau Ingare, a small vineyard on the site of a former stronghold of the Knights Templar. At the Chateau, the Saint discovers a noble family seemingly plagued by a curse.

About the AuthorLeslie Charteris was born in Singapore on May 12th, 1907. With his mother and brother, he moved to England in 1919 and attended Rossall School in Lancashire before moving on to Cambridge University to study law. His studies there came to a halt when a publisher accepted his first novel. His third book, entitled Meet the Tiger!, was written when he was twenty years old and published in September 1928. It introduced the world to Simon Templar, aka the Saint.He continued to write about the Saint until 1983 when the last book, Salvage for the Saint, was published. The books, which have been translated into over thirty languages, number nearly a hundred and have sold over 40 million copies around the world. They've inspired, to date, fifteen feature films, three TV series, ten radio series, and a comic strip that was written by Charteris and syndicated around the world for over a decade. He enjoyed travelling but settled for long periods in Hollywood, Florida, and finally in Surrey, England. He was awarded the Cartier Diamond Dagger by the Crime Writers' Association in 1992, in recognition of a lifetime of achievement. He died the following year.To find out more about Leslie Charteris and his work, visit www.lesliecharteris.com.
